DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's cancellation of claim 3 and addition of claims 4-21 have been made of record.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed November 25, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Examiner respectfully asserts Webber implies that sellers are linked to a plurality of supply chain enterprises [Col 14, line 25]. Each contract is identified according to product, service or activity [Col 6, Line 61]. Rejection of all claims are restated below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Art Unit: 3625

Claims 1, 2, 4-9, 11-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Weber U.S. Patent no. 6,167, 378.

Webber discloses a method and system for digital automation of: supplier fulfillment instructions, special instructions, logistics, shipping coordination, generation of transactional data, necessary reporting, payments and banking in consideration of completed transactions [Col 1]. Webber discloses interaction between a plurality of entities including banks, sellers and multiple supply chain enterprises [Col 1, Figure 1] based upon a set of digital contracts (routing rules). Order information processing and related transactions are seamlessly transferred between the parties, digitally through the communications and activity platform (the order request servicing system is a hub). Transactional data is transferred using electronic data interchange [Col 1, Line 34]. The use of a computer readable medium having instructions to perform the system and method of Webber is inherent in that all transactions are affected digitally.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Webber U.S. Patent no. 6,167, 378.

Webber discloses substantially the claimed invention however, does not disclose that the communication link is selected from a group consisting of the Internet, one or more direct communications links, a satellite network or a cellular network. Although the reference is silent to the particular network used in the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use any typed of network to transfer data. Moreover applicant has not persuasively demonstrated that the particular network is critical or anything more than one of the numerous data communication methods that the skilled artisan would have found suitable for the purpose taught by Webber. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the Internet, a satellite network, or otherwise, such as the general digital connection taught in Webber, for the purpose of communicating data.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Recent Statutory Changes to 35 U.S.C. § 102(e)

On November 2, 2002, President Bush signed the 21st Century Department of Justice Appropriations Authorization Act (H.R. 2215) (Pub. L. 107-273, 116 Stat. 1758 (2002)), which further amended 35 U.S.C. § 102(e), as revised by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) (Pub. L. 106-113, 113 Stat. 1501 (1999)). The revised provisions in 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) are completely retroactive and effective immediately for all applications being examined or patents being reexamined. Until all of the Office's automated systems are updated to reflect the revised statute, citation to the revised statute in Office actions is provided by this attachment. This attachment also substitutes for any citation of the text of 35 U.S.C. § 102(e), if made, in the attached Office action.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 102 in view of the AIPA and H.R. 2215 that forms the basis for the rejections under this section made in the attached Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

35 U.S.C. § 102(e), as revised by the AIPA and H.R. 2215, applies to all qualifying references, except when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. For such patents, the prior art date is determined under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as it existed prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. § 102(e)).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 102 prior to the amendment by the AIPA that forms the basis for the rejections under this section made in the attached Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.
